

Last Saturday, my friends and I went camping. We felt excited. James cooked chicken wings and Ben cooked a big bowl of mushroom soup. We talked happily when we were cooking. Ben decided to go hiking. James wanted to climb up the trees to look at the sky. I preferred to feed the birds. We were happy.

When we finished eating the chicken wings and the soup, we wanted to play something. It was not good to climb up the trees and it was not good to feed the birds either. So, we decided to walk just around the forest. After we walked for ten minutes, we saw a candy house. It was made of candies, ice-cream, biscuits and chocolates. There was not anyone in the house but just a puppy! We felt excited and discussed what we should do. We wanted to play with the puppy for two hours and we also felt hungry.

When I just proposed to wait for the house owner, I saw James and Ben eating the candies, I also joined them immediately. The house tasted very delicious and we ate the whole house. We felt very scared, so I suggested that we look for some fruit in the forest to rebuild it. However, James and Ben disagreed.

At last, we ran and hid behind a tree to avoid the owner finding us. Then minutes later, a tiger suddenly came out from the forest. It ran to me and it tried to eat me! At his moment, I woke up and it was a dream!
